Mrs. Powers was pinned beneath [illegible] overturned automobile and was crushed to death. Kenneth Powers [illegible] son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank [illegible] Powers of Ashley.

On their way to Marion for a [illegible] dinner, R. R. Gray and [illegible] Gerald of near Radnor, were injured in an automobile accident yesterday noon on the [illegible]spect pike.

Gerald Gray, 26, is in City hospital suffering severe injuries to his [illegible] which are not serious, however, hospital attaches report.

Cars Sideswipe

According to the story of one of the first to reach them in the overturned roadster in which they were riding, their car going north had been sideswiped by a south[illegible] car and turned over twice in front of the K. E. Bradley home on [illegible] Prospect pike. The young man was extricated from the machine and taken to the Bradley home until the ambulance arrived to remove him to City hospital. The elder Mr. Gray sustained slight bruises and cuts.

A short circuit in the engine caused the roadster to catch fire. The fire was put out with snow before extensive damage had been done.

Members of the Gray family who were following in other machines, said that they were enroute to Mr. [illegible] sister's home in Marion for [illegible] dinner.

The driver of the car which is said to have struck the roadster did not stop until he had gone some distance. When he saw the other [illegible] turned over he walked back, [illegible] almost immediately before [illegible] could get his name or license number.

The injured man was brought to the hospital in the C. E. Curtis Co. ambulance.

THESE TWO TAMED "WILD ABE"

M. M. Kinley (above, right) and Harry Kinley (below), brothers, were acclaimed heroes when they crept to the edge of "Wild Abe," the blazing Oklahoma oil well at Wewoka, and snuffed out the fire with a charge of special nitro gelatin. The fire for a time threatened destruction of the town.

HEAVY SNOW COVERS CITY

WORKMEN CLEAR STREETS

Traffic in Southern Part of State Experiences Difficulties.

Marionites awoke this morning to see a veritable fairyland as the result of a heavy blanket of snow which fell during the night and which continued to fall today.

A total of two and one-half inches had fallen at noon today. Since temperatures hovered around the freezing point, the snow became slushy on streets and sidewalks, causing pedestrians to wear galoshes and overshoes.

Cloudy tonight with Saturday partly cloudy and slowly rising temperature is forecast by the weatherman.

Yesterday's temperatures ranged from 32 to 37, while a year ago today the low mark was 21 with a high of 39.

Snow which fell here was part of a general snowstorm which hit central Ohio. At Washington Court House, flakes measuring three inches across are reported to have fallen, according to the Associated Press. The flakes are said to be the largest ever seen in that section.

Officials at the union bus depot here reported little difficulty as the result of the snow. One bus which arrived here this morning from Pittsburgh went through a heavy storm near Akron but arrived here only several minutes late, while a bus from Toledo encountered only slight difficulty. The snow, however, was the heaviest of the year throughout the state, it was reported.

City Service Director D. J. Harlow today had a corps of 18 men at work shoveling snow and slush from street intersections for the benefit of pedestrians. This afternoon he planned to put three trucks at work to cart snow away from the intersections.

Barrel salt has been furnished the department by the Marion Auto club for use on icy street crossings, Harlow said.

Two barrels, each containing 280 pounds of salt, had been used by the city before Christmas, while a third is in readiness and will be strewn if streets become icy, according to the service director.

SENT TO PRISON

Loan Company Official Sentenced for Embezzlement of $8,000,000.

By International News Service

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Dec. 26—Gilbert T. Beesemyer, 45, who embezzled more than $8,000,000 from the Guaranty Building & Loan Association of Hollywood while acting as its secretary and general manager was sentenced today from 10 to 100 years in San Quentin prison by Superior Court Judge Walton J. Wood.

Beesemyer, who pleaded guilty Monday, was sentenced to an indeterminate term of from 1 to 10 years on each of the 10 counts of an indictment against him, the sentences to run consecutively.

This means that he must serve at least 10 years before being eligible to parole and that he may spend the rest of his life behind prison bars.

WELFARE WORK HERE AT PEAK CHRISTMAS

Organizations Distribute 300 Baskets to Needy Families as Yuletide Spirit Sweeps Through City.

Marion unfortunates were guests of the city's relief organizations clubs and individuals at dozens of Christmas dinners, as more than 300 baskets of food distributed Wednesday and yesterday found their way into homes of the needy.

The city joined hundreds of other municipalities in providing a Merry Christmas for the jobless and poor.

An unofficial checkup this morning revealed that approximately 320 persons benefited in the distribution of baskets of food yesterday.

The Eagles headed the list of donors, with 84 large baskets. Other organizations and groups distributing baskets and the number prepared include Salvation Army, 80, Trinity Baptist and Lee Street Presbyterian churches, 54, Isaly Dairy, 36; Eagles auxiliary, 15. It is estimated that 50 other baskets were given by church circles, lodges and private individuals.

1,600 Kiddies Get Toys

The dream of a committee of individuals, working with the Family Welfare society, to make 1,600 Marion kiddies happy yesterday was realized when that many bundles of toys were distributed among 600 Marion homes. The committee in charge of collecting, reclaiming and distributing the toys in needy homes was headed by Dr. F. A. Stengel.

All toys and a share of the baskets were distributed by the Merchants Delivery. The drivers donated their time and the delivery donated trucks to expedite the handling of the gifts.

Never before had Marion made such a comprehensive effort to provide for the needy it was generally

MARION HAS QUIET DAY

Police Activities at Low Ebb Over Holiday.

Outward evidences of a quiet Christmas in Marion yesterday were affirmed at city police station this morning when police officers brought only four celebrants into municipal court, instead of the usual dozen or more usually haled into court during the course of holiday festivities.

Only four were charged with imbibing too freely in Christmas spirits and one of these denied guilt of the charge when arraigned this morning. Two were fined $10 each when arraigned.

LeRoy Barnett, 23, of 957 Davids street, was fined $100 when he

GROUPS TO IGNORE ANONYMOUS LETTERS

Charity Organizations Ask Informants To Sign Messages of Needy Families.

Anonymous letters will not hold any weight with officials and investigators of the Family Welfare society, or other welfare organizations of the city, their officials announced today.

Following investigations into homes brought to the attention of welfare workers by such letters, and the resulting embarrassment to both the family and the investigator the workers have decided that such correspondence will be ignored in the future.

In a majority of instances, the family mentioned in these letters are not in need, and resent any offer of charity. Investigators are satisfied that all deserving cases will be discovered without resorting to anonymus letters and phone calls, they say.

Any persons knowing of cases of actual need, where the unfortunate persons are unwilling to resort to charity for aid, are urged to make such cases known, providing they reveal their identity and know of circumstances which warrant an investigation, welfare workers say.

Difficulties arising from anonymous letters was brought to light when St. Vincent de Paul's society announced that it would ignore such communications.

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, O., Dec. 26—John Woods, 14, slayer of William Meeker, aged produce dealer of Colerain, O., was taken to Lancaster reformatory today by Sheriff Ford Moore to begin a life term for murder in the second degree.

Woods spent the "happiest Christmas" of his life at a great feast in county jail yesterday when he sat at Sheriff Moore's table and ate turkey and all the trimmings.

LARGER WORKING FORCE PREDICTED

Willys-Overland Company Expects 50 Per Cent Increase in January.

By The Associated Press

TOLEDO, O., Dec. 26—The Willys-Overland company is employing 8,500 workers on a five-day weekly schedule and indications are that this force will be increased by 50 per cent in January.

L. A. Miller, president of the company, said officials and dealers, in all parts of the country feel the outlook for January is encouraging.

The company is at work on its new models, announcement of which will be made at the New York show Jan. 3. The plant schedule for January will be dependent largely upon the results of the shows which, following New York, will be held in virtually every part of the country, but Mr. Miller forecasts a 50 per cent increase if conditions continue to improve as they have in the last few weeks.

MORE BILLS TO EXTEND RELIEF UP FOR ACTION

Congress To Hear Discussion of Numerous Measures When It Reconvenes.

TO AID FARMS AND LABOR

Demands for Enlargement of Hoover Program Scheduled in Senate and House.

By International News Service

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26—Demands for extension of President Hoover's emergency relief program will be voiced in both senate and house immediately after the Christmas recess, with a score of relief measures being agitated in both halls of congress.

Bills already introduced in both bodies call for the expenditure of billions to right the country and set it on the road to prosperity.

They range from outright use of federal foods to feed the needy to commissions charged with the duty of finding ways of preventing the cycles of depression which have marred the country's history.

Among the many proposals made in bills introduced are:

Creation of a federal industrial commission to survey and investigate all problems relating to stabilization of employment in industry, agriculture and commerce supported by Senator Blaine, Republican of Wisconsin, and Representative Ludlow, Democrat of Indiana.

Insurance Proposed

Proposal of Senator Wagner, Democrat of New York, for an investigation of unemployment insurance and bill of Representative La Guardia, Republican, of New York, levying assessments on both employers and employes to set up unemployment insurance fund.

Levying of tax of one cent a pound on flour to be distributed to wheat producers fathered by Representative Selvig, Republican, of Minnesota.

Distribution of 80,000,000 bushels of farm board wheat, also export debenture bills to pay farmers $150,000,000 a year out of customs receipts, on their foodstuffs.

Distribution of 60,000,000 bushels of farm board wheat to aid needy.

Yuletide Cheer Gone as Boy's Pet Dog Escapes

James Brady's Christmas took a turn for the worse early this morning when a beautiful white Scotch collie dog, a gift from Dr. E. L. Brady, the boy's father escaped from a small kennel in the rear of the Brady home at 483 Vernon Heights boulevard.

Last night James, 14, strapped his new pet in harness, making sure to make the dog comfortable by leaving the straps fairly loose. The lad's generosity has at least temporarily cost him his gift for the dog wriggled out of the leather and escaped.

Hoping that canine instinct will guide the dog back to the Mrs. Catherine Denzer home 10 miles southeast of here, where it was reared young Brady is anxiously awaiting information about his pet.

NORRIS VIEWS THIRD PARTY PLAN LIGHTLY

Indicates He Does Not Consider Proposal Seriously; Statement To Come Later.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26—Senator Norris said today he did not "suppose anybody seriously thinks I will lead a third party movement."

The Nebraska Republican independent, however, reserved until later in the day detailed comment on the letter he received from John Dewey, of the League for Independent Political Action, suggesting that he leave Republican ranks and form a third political party.

Dr. Dewey's proposal followed Norris' differences with Robert H. Lucas, executive director of the Republican national committee and the latter's effort to read him out of the party.

"In light of your recent experience with leaders of the Republican party", Dr. Dewey wrote, "I urge that you sever forever your connections with that political machine and form with those of us in the league and other groups a new party to which you can give your full allegiance."

The Republican party stands for "rugged" individualism, Dr. Dewey wrote, whereas Senator Norris favors social planning and social control.

The league was organized by Dewey and his other friends in September, 1929.

KIN HUBBARD, NOTED HUMORIST, DIES AT INDIANAPOLIS HOME

Creator of "Abe Martin" Stricken Suddenly with Heart Attack; Was Native of Ohio, Born in Bellefontaine.

By The Associated Press

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Dec. 26—Kin Hubbard, humorist and creator of the character Abe Martin, died suddenly early today. Death was attributed to heart disease.

Hubbard awakened at 4 a. m. and complained to his wife of a severe pain in the chest. He arose and fell dead as he attempted to sit on a davenport.

Mr. Hubbard was born in Bellefontaine, Ohio. He came to this city while a young man and entered newspaper work here.

In 1904 he created the character of "Abe Martin," a mythical personage whose habitat was the hills of Brown county, Indiana.

"Abe" has been a regular feature of the Indianapolis News since his creation and in recent years he had appeared in a number of other newspapers throughout the country.

Mr. Hubbard is survived by his widow, Mrs. Josephine Hubbard, a son Tim, a daughter, Virginia, a brother, Horace K., and a sister, Adah Hubbard. The brother and sister both live at Bellefontaine. He was the son of Thomas and Sarah Hubbard. His father was formerly postmaster at Bellefontaine.

His death was unexpected. He was in his office at the Indianapolis News on Christmas eve. He failed to appear at the office yesterday however. It was the first time in many years that he had Italian Air Fleet Completes Another Leg of Trip.

By The Associated Press

BOLAMA, Portuguese, Guinea, Dec. 26—A fleet of 14 Italian sea planes reposed on the calm Atlantic waters here today ready for their great adventure.

As soon as all preparations are made and weather conditions permit, twelve of the planes will strike out across the open ocean for Natal, Brazil, on the first trans-Atlantic flight of such a large squadron. From Natal they will fly to Rio de Janeiro and possibly to Buenos Aires.

The distance of about 1,800 miles is to be patrolled by Italian naval vessels which will be ready to race for any locality where one of the planes' wireless may indicate the ship is coming down.

The planes flew here yesterday from Villa Cisneros, Rio De Oro, arriving at 4:30 p. m. local time.

Modernism

(Will Rogers Special)

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Dec. 26—In reading my Christmas good wishes and the morning papers, found a long editorial seriously comparing our Christmas Day here to the one held in Bethlehem, Judea.

In fact it kinder gives us the best of it in the way of weather and natural resources over Christ's original birthplace, and it is rather insinuated in case our Savior is to be born again, the Chamber of Commerce should get busy now and book the event amid ideal surroundings.

Bethlehem may have had us beat on milk and honey, but I bet we use more cold cream here than they did, and we got some awful good orange marmalade, and it would be cheap.

YOUTH SENTENCED AS EXTORTIONIST

Misspelled Words Prove Undoing of Attempt To Rob Wealthy Lumberman.

By The Associated Press

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 26—Charles L. Duncan, 23, was sentenced to two and a half years in the Missouri penitentiary by Judge Ralph S. Latshaw today on a plea of guilty to a charge of attempting to extort $25,000 from R. A. Long, wealthy lumberman. The youth was trapped as the result of having misspelled two words.

Col. Charles Edwards, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce crime prevention bureau and detectives said Duncan, had confessed he threatened death to the millionaire head of the Long Bell Lumber company in two notes.

In a handwriting test, they said, the youth misspelled street and curbing, peculiarities of the message to Long directing disposition of the $25,000.

They quoted his sentence: "I saw a drunken man lying in the streat by the curbon."

Duncan confessed, they said when confronted by the identical spelling.

The youth, unemployed since April, was arrested Wednesday at the spot where he had directed Long to toss the money.

Colonel Edwards, his face muffled in his overcoat collar and a rifle beneath the laprobe on his knees, rode by the intersection at the specified time Wednesday afternoon and threw out a decoy package.

Five patrol cars closed in on the area. Duncan started from the shadow of a colonnade toward the package, police said, and then, observing a patrol squad, moved away. He protested his innocence twenty hours.

CAB COMPANY ROBBED

Causes Most of More Than 200 Fatalities in U. S. Over Christmas Day.

ICY ROADS ARE MENACE

Fires, Drownings, Gun Fights, Poison Liquor Source of Other Deaths.

By The Associated Press

Two hundred or more deaths marred Christmas joy yesterday as accidents took a heavy toll from coast to coast.

Fires, drownings, hunting accidents and poisonous liquor cost lives but automobiles, running in many sections on slippery roads, were the greatest agent of destruction causing more than two thirds of the deaths.

In the middle west about 80 of the fatalities were recorded. Flames trapped lodgers in a rooming house at Whiting, Ind., and seven men died. Gun fights claimed five lives in the south. One victim was a woman.

Poison liquor claimed between five and ten lives in New York. In California three were believed to have drowned when a launch capsized. In Missouri two died when a bridge collapsed. Two children were fatally burned in Montgomery, Pa., when their father poured gasoline on the kitchen fire. A man froze to death in Indiana and another in Pennsylvania.

There were countless accidents and hundreds of persons injured. In the south many suffered from wounds resulting from fireworks and in Buffalo, N. Y., six persons singing Christmas carols were run down by an automobile.

ACCIDENT VICTIM NURSE'S MOTHER

By The Associated Press

BERKELEY, Calif., Dec. 26—Miss Charlotte Gay, 19 year-old student nurse had to work Christmas day.

"Another automobile accident," a doctor commented as a woman patient was brought to the hospital. "Hand me those bandages, Miss Gay."

As the nurse reached for the bandages she looked at the patient. It was her mother. An hour later Mrs. Henrietta Gay, 48, died in her daughter's arms.

FIVE DAYS REMAIN TO BUY AUTO TAGS

Auto Club Secretary Says 5,000 Motorists Without New Plates.

Only five days remain for motorists to use their 1930 automobile licenses, Mrs. D. V. Gallagher, secretary of the Marion Auto club, pointed out today.

She urged motorists who have not yet procured their 1931 tags to do so as early as possible, since only four days are left to obtain the licenses. The club, which handles the local sale, will be open all day Saturday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday to fill applications for the plates.

"The sale is going slowly although it has picked up considerably in the last few days. Nevertheless, there are 5,000 motorists in the county who have not yet obtained their licenses and if they do not want to be caught in a last-minute rush, they'll have to get their tags early," she said.

A corps of six persons was at work today filling out applications for tags at the automobile club headquarters on East Center street. A steady stream of applicants kept them busy this morning.

Large Saving Shown in State Institutions

CHAPTER 4
BAD NEWS BACKSTAGE

A glanced at her wrist- as she washed the breakfast dishes. Late as usual, Vivienne had departed in a taxi.

Now Aileen would have to take one too, to get to rehearsal on time. It was just such little extras that ate up money so!

Luckily it was cooler. Aileen felt that she couldn't have stood another humid day. After her evening with Jimmy she had spent a restless night. She knew she must reach some decision as to their relations.

In the case of anyone else she would not have hesitated. Aileen was an adept at discouraging unwanted attentions. But here was a situation getting out of hand. Her danger lay in the palpable truth that she dared not trust herself. That probably meant that she loved him—or could, if she'd let herself—for transitory amours were repulsive to her nature. When she fell she'd fall!

Hurrying into the bedroom, she began to dress. Vivienne's things were all over the place. Well there was no time to straighten up now. Darn it! Viv had taken her gloves.

Aileen wondered what new tryout this special rehearsal meant. All summer the show had been doctored, given new tonics to build it up for a healthy winter's run. How little the public realized the grind that went on in the theater when no audience was there.

As her cab crept through the traffic, Aileen's thoughts returned to Jimmy. Of course he hadn't asked her if she'd marry him. Not in so many words. It would make matters easier if he should. Then somehow, she could refuse—without cutting him too deeply. There would have to be a show down. She mustn't keep him dangling.

Well, there was only one answer. Aileen had no intention of marrying any man. Not until her mind was at ease concerning Vivienne. Possibly that would be years. Meanwhile, wisdom cautioned her not to see too much of Crane. One thing was certain however. Rather than hurt Jimmy, Aileen would give anything—with but one exception. Yet it would be darned lonely not to have him around.

Paying the chauffeur, Aileen ran down the narrow passage. In the back-stage dimness, she found herself in the midst of a group of excited girls. Some were tearful, some coldly contemptuous, while others were casting opprobrium on the forebears of Max Klein.

On the bulletin board by the mail rack the cause of their varied emotions was pinned up by a thumb-tack. It advised the company that the show would close on Saturday night. Aileen felt a sinking sensation, almost physical.

Fall clothes, coats, hats! Where were they to come from? It was not good business for an actress or a model to appear in out-moded things. They simply couldn't afford to look other than up-to-date. Certainly not when applying to managers and agencies for another job.

It was almost a minute before Aileen fully grasped the situation, but her game little spirit refused to stay down once she knew the worst. She had the consolation of her modest nest egg in the savings fund. Small wonder the faces of some of the girls wore the mask of tragedy. To be let out at this season, when most of the fall produtions were on or in rehearsal, was no light misfortune. Managers were retrenching too, putting on fewer shows. Had New York grown tired of being gouged, or just weary of the theater? None of which altered the adage that ladies must live somehow.

Aileen had supposed their show was good for the winter's run at least. Now her calculations were all turned upside down. She could have cried if her pride had let her. Then in spite of her consternation she smiled as she heard Daisy Latour at the telephone. Daisy was always resourceful. She was cooing into the instrument, telling an unseen savior that she'd simply love to dine with him if he was free that evening.

"That's what I'd term efficiency," a masculine voice remarked. "Little drops of glycerin bring in grains of corn." Turning, Aileen saw Jimmy grinning in Daisy's direction. "Oh, for a broker who isn't broke when the show's a flop!"

"I thought we were drawing good houses," Aileen looked at him questioningly.

"Seems the gate's been falling off. But that's not the whole deep secret. You should have been in Max Klein's office a minute or so ago. Julie Sorano handed him a line of heavy language. Plush Papa just stood and took it. Julie called him everything she could think of that wasn't flattering. When that woman desires to express herself she mesmerizes words."

"I don't wonder Sorano is sore!" one irate girl put in. "If Klein's going to blame her for the flop it won't do her rep any good."

"Exit smiling!" Jimmy scoffed. "She'll go rattle her bones in vaudeville and get five grand a week. That is, while the getting lasts. Julie hasn't been getting over. People don't have to pay eight-eighty to see her type of acting. But Max knew what would happen if he tried to let her out. So rather than go on with her, he's decided to close the show."

"Just the same I'm sorry." Aileen defended the star. "If she's been raising too much whoopee it's been with Max Klein's friends. She's been awfully nice to all of us—"

"Save your pity for the starving bootleggers," Jimmy advised. "With the government throwing them out of work, the unemployment's frightful." Slipping his arm through Aileen's he led her away from the others. "Rehearsal's off," he told her. "The patient's been given up. So let's do a disappearing act. I've something to confide to you while we inhale some spaghetti!"

The Road To Roam - In Winter!

The Popular Winter Playgrounds are Reached Over the L. & N. Liberal Stop-overs Enable You to Visit Several Places on One Trip. Plan by the Map.

GULF COAST

Got a few days? Trade them for a coat of tan and the health that goes with it. The Gulf Coast is just a day or so away. Roses bloom there in February. People who have learned to live and plan to live a long time, spend days there every winter, resting, rebuilding. Golf courses everywhere; play a different one every day. The Gulf and streams are full of fish. Duck are calling from the marshes. Roads and riding paths beckon.

NEW ORLEANS

It's winter in New Orleans. Old Pierre is cutting roses behind the high French wall where he has been gardener for a hundred years or so. Fashionables from the North, South, East and West are watching races on a sun-drenched track. Happy throngs are passing in and out of famous old restaurants, sitting in quaint court yards. Leave Cincinnati or Louisville on The Pan-American one morning; arrive in New Orleans the next. Enjoy the Mardi Gras festivities February 12-17.

SOUTHWEST

Come where bells of Spanish missions chime, where blue mountains rise from red deserts, the land of the cowboy, the Indian and the troubadour. The L.&N. connects at New Orleans with routes through Southwest to Houston, San Antonio, Dallas, El Paso, Grand Canyon, Carlsbad Caverns and California.

FLORIDA

The L. & N. offers splendid service from Cincinnati and Louisville to Florida, details of which appear in separate advertisements. Ask for literature and schedules.

A Story of Boyhood Adventure

BY JUDD M. LEWIS

The day after everything. Me and Jubilee woke up this morning and I had my overcoat with the fur collar on it and my skates, and my knife that Younias gave me in bed with me when I woke up, and I told Jubilee about them, and about Mrs. Wagmore, and then I asted him why he thought she cried when she gave the things to us. I would of thought if she didn't want to give them to us she wouldn't of. There wasn't any need to cry about it. Of course he didn't tell me what he thought, because he is only a dog and don't think, but all at once I remembered that she had a baby one time, and it had died, so I knew she cried because she thought maybe if it had growed up it would have looked like us. That is enough to make anyone cry. I didn't blame her. Then I pushed him out of bed and got up and put my overcoat on before I let him down out of the window by the rope in his teeth, and I went down and got the milk pail and went out to slop the cows and milk them, and whilst I was milking them my father came in and asted me if I was crazy and to get up and take my new overcoat off at once. So I did and he carried it in the house. He has got his Christmas turkey and don't care how he talks to me now.

After breakfast Younias came over and said Feebie and Maggie had et too much yesterday and had to stay home when she called for them, so she came alone. I told her to come with me, because I had an idee. So her and Jubilee and me went to the doctor's office and waited a long time and looked at a picture of Dewey capturing Manila in a magazine on his table. Then when he came in he shook hands with us and asted me what he could do for us. I said, "Please doctor, we want a baby," he just looked at us and said, "My gawd!" and then he went and opened the window and let the cold wind blow in a minute, then he turned around and said, "What?" I looked at Younias and she nodded and I said, "We want a baby. How much do you charge?" He said, "Now-now-now let's see! How would you keep a baby?" I said "We wouldn't keep it. Do you think we're crazy?" He said he thought someone was. So then I told him about the Wagmores and that they had a baby once and it died, and he said he knew all about that. So I told him we all loved her and wanted her to have a baby for a surprise. He went and looked out of the window. Then he turned around and said why didn't we [illegible] Claus. The Story of a Wife's Triumph Over Jealousy

Madge Interrupts a Quarrel Between Veritzen and His Son.

I GLANCED around the living room at Mary's whispered request to come away with her and saw that for the moment everybody was so absorbed in one of Harry Underwood's ridiculous yarns we would not be missed. But as I slipped out of the room with Mary, I realized that Philip Veritzen and Noel had been absent from the group around Mr. Underwood, and Mary's tearful agitation was explained to me.

"Where are—" I began, but she tugged at my arm.

"They went outside," she breathed, "and they are both so angry. I am afraid. Oh, hurry!"

I snatched a motor cloak as we passed a closet and spoke imperatively.

"Go back and whisper to Mrs. Underwood that I want her to keep everybody in the living room until I come back. Then you can come after me."

She obeyed me, running back on tiptoes to the living room, and I went on to the veranda, pausing as I reached it and straining my ears and eyes for the sound of voices or the sight of my missing guests.

I did not have to wait a second. I had opened the door noiselessly and from around the corner of the veranda came a hoarse voice.

A Bitter Quarrel

"And you dared—" it was Mr. Veritzen's voice—"give your dead mother's ring to that—"

"Take care—" I hardly knew Noel's ordinarily gentle voice, so raucous with passion was it. "I do not want to forget that you are my father and an—"

There was only one ruse possible. I reached back for the door, opened it noiselessly, then shut it with a bang as if I had just come out-of-doors.

"Oh! what a glorious night!" I caroled as if to myself. "I wonder how the lights look from this side!"

My high heels tapped quickly around the veranda toward the voices which had stopped suddenly. I knew that of all things Philip Veritzen would dread a scene and that his resourcefulness and Noel's shy dread of having me hear anything unpleasant would postpone their quarrel to the more convenient season which I was determined should never come.

"Ah! Mrs. Graham," said Mr. Veritzen's suave voice as I rounded the corner. "You also are discovering this wonderful night outdoors."

"Will you excuse me?" Noel said hurriedly and dashed past us toward the hall door.

Veritzen's Blind Promise

"He is a bit impetuous, my young cub," Mr. Veritzen said unsteadily.

"Yes, Noel is impetuous," I agreed, and wondered how soon I could gracefully get back into the house. But my problem was solved without my volition by the violent fit of shivering which seized me as I spoke the words.

"You are getting chilled. You must go inside at once," Mr. Veritzen said imperatively, and when I had walked docilely into the house beside him, I managed to say quietly:

"There is a fire in the library," and he promptly took me into the deserted room and put me into a chair before the fire.

"What can I get you?" he asked solicitously.

"Nothing," I answered with chattering teeth. "I shall be perfectly all right as soon as I get warm. Please sit down and be patient with me."

"Patient with you!" he echoed, drawing a chair close to mine and putting a warm firm hand over my icy one which was gripping the arm of the chair. "Don't you know—"

The personal note was sounding insistently now, and with the remembrance of Noel's need upon me, I resolved to ignore it, perhaps even bend it to my purpose instead of flouting it, as I ordinarily would do.

Madge Controls Her Anger

"I know that you are everything which is kind and chivalrous," I said, gathering my courage for a supreme effort on behalf of Noel and Mary. It is that knowledge which tempts me to brave your almost certain anger and ask you a question which has been troubling me for a long time."

"My anger!" he repeated softly. "There is no such word, can be none, where you are concerned."

"Will you listen to me then for a minute or two, and remember that I would not speak unless I were driven to it by my conscience and my concern for you."

I was looking steadily at him, and for an eerie second it seemed to me as if candles had been lighted behind his eyes, so lambent were they.

"Will you remember?" he said softly, tensely, "that there is nothing in all the world you may not say to me, nothing you may not ask me. 'A minute or two!' I could listen forever to your voice."

TWO LOCAL QUINTS BOOK OUT-OF-TOWN GAMES FOR WEEK-END

St. Mary's. Y-Indus Both Schedule Pair of Cage Contests.

St. Mary's parochial cagers and the Shovel Y-Indus club are the only local basketball outfits scheduled to take to the hardwood this week-end for court contests. Both teams have a pair of games booked, all four being scheduled for out of town floors.

The Catholic five will tackle its fifth opponent of the current season tonight when it travels to Columbus to meet the Columbus Holy Family quintet. Saturday the Irish will clash with Upper Sandusky High school.

Y-Indus Plays Two

The Y-Indus basketeers will take on the Upper Sandusky Y. M. C. A. team tonight in the latter town. The Columbus Amerigo club will furnish the piece de resistance for the amateur champions Saturday night. The Amerigo game will be a return battle, the local Y club having soundly trounced the Columbus team earlier this year on the Shovel floor.

St. Mary's is smarting under the lash of three successive defeats this season and will be fighting hard to get back into the win column tonight. Not expected to be particularly strong this year the Irish exceeded expectations in the first game of the year by walloping the Sidney Holy Angels on The Star court. The opening game form seems to have been little more than a flash in the plan for since that time a trio of opponents have handed the Irish decisive beatings.

May Lose Another

Possibilities for a return to winning ways are not very bright tonight but Saturday the team has a good chance to come through with another victory. Not much is known here of the strength of Columbus Holy Family but the Capital city five is annually well up in the running in Columbus parochial circles. The team will probably prove fairly tough.

The Shovel Y-Indus team should not have difficulty this week-end in adding two more victories to its present string of seven. Upper Sandusky's Y. M. C. A. team is not as strong, at least on paper, as the locals and should bow to the clever team work of the Marion Y club.

With the regular center, Lockwood, being among those not present Saturday night, the Amerigo team may prove a more difficult foe. When the Columbus club played here earlier in the season Marion swamped it under a score of 32 to 24.

GIANT BATSMAN HITS FOR AVERAGE OF 401

Klein of Phillies, Wilson of Cubs Complete "Big Three" of League.

By United Press

NEW YORK, Dec. 26 Bill Terry of New York, Chuck Klein of Philadelphia and "Hack" Wilson of Chicago, were the "big three" of National league batsmen last season, according to the official average released today.

Terry, in addition to winning the individual batting championship with an average of .401, also made the most hits, 254, and led in singles with 177. Terry's 254 hits tied the National league record made by "Lefty" O'Doul of Philadelphia in 1929.

Klein, like Terry, led in three departments of the game. The slugging Philly scored the most runs, 158, had the most total bases on hits, 445, and hit the most doubles, 59.

Wilson was the home run king, blasting 56 homers, just four less than the all time intra-league record established by Babe Ruth. Wilson's 56 homers exceeded by 13 the National league mark set by Klein in 1929.

Adam Comorosky of Pittsburgh, led in three base hits, with 23, and had the most sacrifice hits, 33.

Hazen "Kiki" Cuyler of Chicago, stole 37 bases to lead the league for the third successive year.

Taylor Douthit of St. Louis, went to bat 664 times to top the league in this angle of the game.

Seventy-one players hit for .300 or better.

Klein, Terry, Cuyler, Douthit, Elwood English of Chicago, and Tommy Thevenow of Philadelphia were the six players to engage in all their clubs' games.

New York led in club batting with an average of .319, a new modern record. Besides New York five clubs hit for better than .300.

Other clubs' statistics follow:

Most singles—New York, 1,279.
Runs scored—St. Louis, 1,004.
Two base hits—St. Louis, 373.
Most times at bat—Philadelphia, 5,667
Most hits—Philadelphia, 1,783.
Most opponents runs allowed—Philadelphia, 1,199.
Least opponents runs allowed—Brooklyn ,738.
Most total bases on hits—Chicago, 2,684.
Most home runs—Chicago, 171.
Most three base hits—Pittsburgh 119
Most sacrifice hits—Pittsburgh, 196.
Most stolen bases Philadelphia, 76

FESLER, SIMPSON IN SPORTS SPOTLIGHT OF BUCKEYE SCHOOL

Track Star Sets New Marks in 100 and 220 Yard Events.

By International News Service

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 26—Two outstanding features marked varsity athletics at Ohio State university this year.

These were the track feats of George Simpson, who drove himself over the cinder paths of the Big Ten to world records in the 100 and the 220-yard dashes; and the brilliant all-around performance of Wesley Fesler, all-American end for three consecutive seasons that he played on the wings and in the backfield of Buckeye elevens.

Simpson climaxed his records with the time of 9.5 for the century at Ohio relays. He also set a national collegiate record of 20.8 seconds for the 220 at Chicago when he took the measure of some of the world's greatest sprinters—Eddie Tolan, Claude Bracey and Frank Wykoff.

Fesler also shown by his consistency as a guard on the Buckeye basketball team—and captured a trophy for his second consecutive year on the baseball team, when he was voted the squad's most valuable player. Finally he served as field general, end, forward passer, punter and ball carrier on the 1930 Buckeye eleven, which finished the season with three straight victories and a tie against whirlwind opposition, after a miserable start.

In minor sports, a total of 34 out of 46 matches were put on Ohio State's side of the ledger—as well as many new records.

In wrestling Russell Fairall, Newark, won 16 consecutive matches, took third in the Big Ten and won the state heavyweight championship. His teammates, Floyd Helgerson, Marshaltown, Ia., and Stacey Hall, Wheelersburg, took the state lightweight and middleweight championships respectively.

Helgerson also went undefeated in dual competition and took second at the National intercollegiate matches.

144 Entries Listed in Junior Tennis Tourney

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Dec. 26 — With 144 young players listed on the draw sheet, the National junior indoor tennis championship gets under way today. The tournament will continue through next week.

The boys' championship, which has drawn 78 entries, is scheduled to start tomorrow and continue along with the more important event.

The top of the junior entry list is William Jacobs of Baltimore and the University of Pennsylvania, who is defending the title he won on the same courts last year.

DEMPSEY RUMORS FLY

By International News Service

NEW YORK, Dec. 26—Jack Dempsey was due to arrive in New York today and before him came the usual rumors. One was that he will confer with Madison Square garden officials about a comeback against Max Schmeling, world's heavyweight champion. Another report said he intended to act as a promoter for the garden in Florida this winter.

Sixteen million books were circulated by New Jersey public libraries in 1930, compared with 900,000 in 1900.

WOLGAST FAVORITE TO DEFEAT GENARO

Madison Square Garden Fight To Settle Long Disputed Championship.

BY EDWARD J. NEIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 26—Midget Wolgast, scrappy kid from Philadelphia, will have precedent on his side when he tries in Madison Square Garden tonight to clinch claims to the flyweight championship in a fifteen round duel with Frankie Genaro.

Wolgast, by reason of his conquest of all rivals in the elimination tournament staged here last summer, is the New York State Athletic commission's nominee for the 112 pound crown. Genaro, a stubby little Italian veteran, is recognized almost everywhere but in New York state and Pennsylvania by the National Boxing Association as the flyweight champion of the world. Twice previously inter-commission rulers have met to decide a generally recognized champion and both times the New York state entry won the honors.

Tony Canzoneri, now the lightweight titleholder, once held featherweight recognition here while Benny Bass of Philadelphia was named by the N. B. A. as its champion. They met here and Canzoneri punched out a decision. Again Maxey Rosenbloom, local nominee for light heavyweight honors, found his claims disputed by Jimmy Slattery of Buffalo, champion in the 26 states controlled by the N. B. A. and once more the New York commission entry proved the better man when they met in Buffalo.

Genaro, busy in foreign and Canadian rings but idle here for the last three years because of his refusal to enter elimination tournaments to decide the flyweight champion, is a far more experienced battler than young Wolgast.

Wolgast has punched his way to the top in the last two years. He is an 8 to 5 favorite.

Southern Cagers Invade Big Ten for Competition

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Dec. 26—Two Dixie college teams, University of Alabama from the old south and Rice Institute from the southwest, will provide basketball competition for Big Ten and other mid-west colleges during the holidays.

Alabama, with a record of 20 wins in 20 games last year, plays Butler at Indianapolis Monday and Northwestern university at Evanston Wednesday. They also play Wittenberg college at Springfield, O., before they return south.

BOBCATS SCHEDULE TOUGH GRID GAMES

Eight Foes Listed for Ohio U. in 1931 Football Campaign.

ATHENS, O., Dec. 26—Visions of another undefeated football season for the champion Ohio University Bobcats were wrecked here this week when the 1931 schedule was announced by Athletic Director O. C. Bird.

Besides five traditionally hard games with Buckeye conference foes, the Bobcats will be asked to meet three teams from out of state, all of whom are admittedly difficult.

The Ohio University eleven will open the season in a game with Indiana University of the Big Ten. The following Saturday the Bobcats will engage Butler University of Indianapolis and two weeks later will entertain Simpson College of Indianola, Ia.

The Buckeye conference games will be with Ohio Wesleyan, Cincinnati, Miami, Denison and DePauw, the latter team being a new member of the conference.

The home schedule for 1931 is by far the most impressive ever arranged for the Bobcats. Butler, Simpson, Ohio Wesleyan and Miami will all appear at Ohio Stadium.

The complete schedule follows:

Sept. 26—Indiana University at Bloomington.
Oct. 3—Butler University at Athens.
Oct. 10—Denison at Granville.
Oct. 17—Simpson College at Athens.
Oct. 24—Cincinnati at Cincinnati.
Oct. 31—Ohio Wesleyan at Athens.
Nov. 7—DePauw at Greencastle.
Nov. 14—Miami at Athens.
Nov. 21—Open.

ATHENS, O., Dec. 12—Ray "Piggy" Hart, fullback from Marietta, led the high stepping Ohio University Bobcats in scoring during the football season just closed with a total of 11 touchdowns in nine games for 66 points.

Clark Gabriel, Piqua quarterback, by virtue of 19 points after touchdown, was the second high scorer with 61 points. The Bobcats scored in the following way: Hart, 66; Gabriel, 61; Russell Kepler, Wellington, 36; Jerry Warshower, Brooklyn, N. Y., 30; Don Maurer, Uhrichsville, 30; Joe Sintic, Euclid, 8; Robert Willoughby, Mt. Sterling, 8; Harold Brown, Parkersburg, W. Va., 6; George Brown, Malden, Mass., 6; Claude Chrisman, Mt. Vernon, 6; Paul Crites, Cleveland 3.

The Bobcats scored a total of 262 points to their opponents 26. In 1929 the Ohio University eleven scored 306 points to opponents 13.

College Grid Stars To Play Game for Charity

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Dec. 26— College stars of the north and south will clash in Ebbets field, Brooklyn, Sunday afternoon for charity — but just what charity no one seems to know.

Jack McBride, former Syracuse back now playing pro football, who is in charge of the contest and is coaching the northern eleven, has designated President Steve McKeever of the Brooklyn Baseball club to distribute the 50 per cent of the gate receipts that will go to charity. Several organizations have been named at one time or another since the contest was first suggested as recipients of the receipts but all apparently have withdrawn.

Dakota Collegians in Win Over L. A. Firemen

By The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Dec. 26—The Flickertails of North Dakota university smashed through the Los Angeles firemen to a 14 to 9 win yesterday before 20,000 fans in the coliseum.

Speed and gameness enabled the Nodaks to outscore and hold their powerful antagonists in the Christmas feature. A bewildering assortment of plays combined with a fighting heart offset the superior weight and dogged determination of the former college and high school stars making up the fire laddies' eleven.

WORKOUT IN ORDER

By The Associated Press

DALLAS, Tex., Dec. 26 — Workouts were in order here today for the miwdest and southwest football stars matched in the Dixie classic, a charity contest, New Year's day. The midwest players, save for one man, arrived yesterday and were drilled in offensive plays by Robert Zuppke, coach at the University of Illinois. Donald Ridler, Michigan State tackle, missed the train the others caught, but was expected to follow soon.

Original sin must be the kind we don't have to invest.

Kicked Out of One Job; May Land Better Post

BY LES CONKLIN,
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 26—By a queer quirk of fate, one of the most successful coaches of the 1930 gridiron season will be looking for a job at the football meetings here next week. And by a still queerer twist in the course of human events, one of the best coaching jobs in the country is likely to fall into his lap.

The man is Jimmy Dehart, who until three weeks ago was head coach of football and athletic director at Drake university. Duke had a disastrous season on the gridiron in 1929 and a year ago Dehart was informed his services would not be required after the close of the 1930 campaign.

With nothing to lose, Dehart then proceeded to turn out one of the best teams in the south in 1930. Duke won four Southern conference games lost one and tied another.

Fifteen or 20 institutions, three of them important fixtures in the gridiron firmament, are looking for winning coaches and Dehart has had offers or "feelers" from two-thirds of them. He admits he has one very important engagement here next Monday.

Dehart was captaih and quarterback of Pittsburgh's 1919 team.

In 1918, when he was in the flying service, he captained, coached and played quarterback on the Mather field aviators' eleven which beat Stanford one day and California the next. Walter Camp put Dehart on his all-service team as quarterback and captain.

Next year he probably will return to the limelight as coach of some prominent team. That is the story of Jimmy Dehart—a flop today and a king tomorrow.

CONTINUE WORKOUTS FOR GRID CLASSIC

Alabama, Washington State Drilling Daily for New Years' Day Battle.

By The Associated Press

PASADENA, Calif., Dec. 26—After an afternoon and night of rest, the Rose tournament's football teams, Washington State and Alabama, prepared today for further physical and mental training.

The two teams will meet on the gridiron New Year's day; Alabama, pride of the south, and Washington State, Pacific coast champions.

Coach Wallace Wade daily is putting his Crimson Tide through about two hours of fundamentals and running signals. He is paying little attention to new plays, concentrating on conditioning the players.

Coach Orin "Babe" Hollingbery expected today to give his boys a hard workout. He said he felt the team was coming rapidly and needed only a few more hard sessions. Next week, he said, he will start tapering down on the rigid training.

BY BOB KIRKPATRICK

BAN JOHNSON, former president of the American baseball circuit scarcely passes a crisis in a fight with a serious disease when he came forward with the statement that he thinks the jack rabbit baseball will prove the undoing of the national pastime. Johnson advocates the slowing down of the pellet so that baseball games will again turn into pitchers' battles rather than mere slugging bees between hefty clubbers.

Regardless of what Johnson thinks of the lively ball it is not probable that the ball will be changed much at least not at the present time. The game last summer drew more persons to the major league ball parks than ever before in the history of the sport and while the turnstiles are clicking a merry rate there is not apt to be much sentiment towards making changes in the playing of the game.

The public apparently prefers to watch the batters clout the ball out of the park than it does to see some "master mind" manager engineer a squeeze play to score a single run. Sports fans want action and the lively ball is furnishing it. It looks like the home run artists can still hammer the sphere for a flock of homers each season.

* * *

Ice Hockey for Thrills

Some persons will argue there is more action to the minute in football than in any other sport. Others will choose basketball and rabid fans may select baseball as their idea of action.

Which sport does furnish the most action per minute does not make one iota of difference but what about ice hockey. Action must have been the idea of the fellow who thought up the game. One average hockey game has enough action in it for any single evening of entertainment but it takes players of the National Hockey league to put the real meaning of the word "action" into the games.

Scarcely a night passes in league competition that several players of opposing teams do not drop their sticks and settle their individual arguments with their fists. Some of the fights would make the present day ring scraps look pretty poor.

It's a great game—professional hockey. If you can't win with your sticks you throw 'em down and win with your fists. At least you do if the other fellow isn't better.

OHIO WESLEYAN HAS GOOD SPORTS YEAR

Bishops Win Two Conference Championships; Given Trophy.

Special To The Star

DELAWARE, O., Dec. 26—The year 1930 has been kind to Ohio Wesleyan university athletic teams, a survey of the successes of the Battling Bishops during the year which is just drawing to a close indicates. Ohio Wesleyan teams have won two Buckeye championships and finished in second place in two other sports.

The Bishops tied with Cincinnati for the 1930 basketball champion, each team winning six and losing two games. In baseball, the Bishops fared worse than in any other sport, finishing in fourth place. In track, they took second place at the 1930 Buckeye conference meet.

Ohio Wesleyan was second in the conference football standings this fall and won the annual conference cross country meet. During the year, the Bishops were also awarded the Buckeye trophy for all-around athletic supremacy for 1929-30.

RADIO NEWS AND PROGRAMS

New Dramatic Series To Begin Over CBS Net

A RADICAL innovation in radio dramatics which opens an almost unlimited field in this type of entertainment, will take place Friday at 10:30 p. m. when the Columbia Broadcasting System presents over its network a new work entitled "Behind the Words, a Drama in Radio Telepathy."

The story of the play will be told in aural dialogue. The characters will speak their lines and reveal simultaneously the secret thoughts which prompted them. In other words their inner motives will be made audible by the use of "asides."

This ancient dramatic form of thinking aloud was revived by Eugene O'Neill in "The Great God Brown" and "Strange Interlude." A similar method was used by James Joyce in "Ulysses" wherein hidden thoughts were made a part of the dialogue.

• • •

One of the most unusual air events of the year will take place Friday at 7:30 p. m. when Evangeline Adams speaking over Columbia stations will give a horoscopic reading of Richard B. Harrison, "de Lawd" in "The Green Pastures"; as well as a horoscope of the play itself.

• • •

The Columbia Orchestra will play the introduction to Act III of the "Meistersinger," Wagner's only operatic comedy, as the concluding selection of the Grand Opera Miniatures program Friday from 8 to 8:30 p. m. over the Columbia Broadcasting network.

• • •

A medley of 1930 song hits will be contrasted with those of 1916 during the Weed Tire Chain program, featuring Marie Gerard, soprano, William Hain, tenor, Harriet Lee, contralto, a male quartet and Freddie Rich's orchestra, over the Columbia Broadcasting System Friday from 8:30 to 9 p. m.

GINGER ROGERS

Miss Rogers, motion picture star, will sing three popular songs from recent Broadway successes when she appears as guest artist on the Nestle program over an NBC network Friday at 8 p. m.

• • •

A dramatized version of "The Wife Who Stood Still," will be presented during the True Story hour on the Columbia network Friday from 9 to 10 p. m.

• • •

How two runaways are turned into ornaments for the Christmas tree, will be described by My-Bookhouse-Story Man over the Columbia network Friday from 5:30 to 5:45 p. m.

"Baby" Operatic Star Will Sing Over NBC Chain

MARY McCORMIC, soprano, "baby" star of the Chicago Opera Company, and Floyd Gibbons, the headline hunter, will be guest artists on the Natural Bridge Revue, which will be presented over an NBC network Friday at 8:45 p. m.

Miss McCormic, who will be introduced by Gibbons, is the protege of Mary Garden, former directress of the Chicago Opera Company. Her big chance came at a public audition in which 75 voices were tried out. Hers was the only one accepted. After almost a year's study she made her debut in Chicago. Her voice has been heard on the air only in opera company broadcasts.

Between seasons, Miss McCormic has made tours abroad. She has the rare distinction of being the only American girl since Nordica to be on the roster of the Paris Opera Company and has been chosen to create the soprano role in a new opera by Messager, which will have its premier next season.

• • •

A special program dedicated to Alabama and Washington State, contestants in the famous Rose Bowl football classic, will be presented during the College Memories program to be broadcast from the NBC Chicago Studios Friday at 7:15 p. m.

• • •

"A Night With the Children," opening with excerpts from Victor Herbert's "Babes in Toyland," will be presented over an NBC network during the Old Company's Program Friday at 7:30 p. m.

• • •

Irvin S. Cobb, humorist and writer, will be guest artist on the Armour Program to be broadcast from NBC Chicago Studios Friday at 9:30 p. m.

• • •

Show numbers will dominate the program to be presented by the Quakers over an NBC network Friday at 10 p. m.

• • •

The charm of light opera will be interpreted by Channon Collinge and the artists under his direction in a program over the Columbia network Friday from 5 to 5:30 p. m.

After a husband has told his wife all about what has happened in the office he should say, "Tell me all about who called today."

DIES IN WEST

Mrs. Sarah Kise, Former Marion County Resident, Claimed.

Word has been received here of the death of Mrs. Sarah Kise, wife of Samuel Kise, formerly of Marion county, which occurred Nov. 20 at her hme in Sundance, Wyo. Funeral services were held at the home and interment made in the cemetery at Sundance.

Mrs. Kise, who was the aunt of Frank Renzenberger of southeast of the city, was born March 2, 1842, in Marion county and lived on the family homestead now known as the A. W. Click farm. Her marriage to Mr. Kise took place April 24, 1861, and in 1879 the family migrated to the west locating on a farm in the Canyon Springs district in Wyoming. In 1900 they moved to Sundance. Mrs. Kise's maiden name was Sarah Hauber.

COMMITTEE HEAD

Mrs. Richard Derby, chairman of the medical committee which worked on the report to the National Crime Commission. The report proposes a codification of psychiatric practice in courts and prisons and decrees the "battle of experts" in insanity cases, which, it is said, sometimes leads juries to disregard all of the medical evidence.

PICTURE TO BRING FATHER BACK TO TALK AND ACT FOR BOY

Little Kenyon Sills, who was only a baby when his father died, some day will see and hear Milton Sills in the actor's last picture which is being saved for the boy to see. Here Kenyon as a baby is shown with his father and his mother, Doris Kenyon.

• • •

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK—A boy, not yet four years old, is awaiting the day when he will see and hear his father move and speak—his father who died shortly after the son was born.

The boy is Kenyon Sills, son of the late Milton Sills and Doris Kenyon Sills, hero and heroine of many motion pictures.

Their son has the golden, curly hair of his mother. As he was a mere baby when his father died, he cannot remember ever having seen him.

• • •

THROUGH talking pictures, however, he some day will not only see his father, but also hear him talk.

A print of "The Sea Wolf," the last picture made by Sills before his death, is being preserved in a vault here. With it is a print of "Men of Steel," a film in which Sills and Doris Kenyon appeared together.

When he is old enough the pictures will be shown to young Kenyon so he may come to know, to a certain extent, the man who was his father.

• • •

"I HAVE no idea what impression it will make upon my son when he sees his father move and talk on the screen," Miss Kenyon said. "But I think it is wonderful that he will be able to do so."

"I do not know whether I will look at the pictures with Kenyon. Now I do not think I could, but when the time comes to show them I may feel differently."

Mrs. Sills now is in retirement, but she plans to return to public life next spring. There will be no more work in pictures. Instead she will carry on her concert work as singer and pianist.

• • •

"I came to New York this winter to give several concerts, one with the Philharmonic," she said. "I postponed them until next year. My first concert will be in London in May, and later I will return to make a tour in this country.

"I always wanted to do concerts more than anything else. I may appear in another picture some day, but it is doubtful.

"Still, life changes so much that we never know what we will do. I once said I would never marry an actor, but I did."

SUGAR STOCK BURNED

By The Associated Press

TRACY, Calif., Dec. 26—Fire last night swept through a warehouse of the Holly Sugar company here containing 160,000 sacks of sugar. Company officials estimated the loss at $800,000.

B. Y. P. U. MEETS

Thirty-four members of the Intermdeiate B. Y. P. U. of Trinity Baptist church met Monday in the church parlors for a Christmas party. An exchange of gifts and a social hour of games and contests followed a short business meeting and devotions.

Flashes of Life

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK—"Prepare now for prosperity" is the slogan announced for National Thrift week, Jan. 17-23, by Adolph Lewisohn, chairman of the national thrift committee of the Y. M. C. A.

• • •

CHICAGO—Golfers whom John D. Rockefeller encountered Christmas have dimes, policemen found by his daughters, Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick, on Lake Shore drive, have $5 gold pieces.

• • •

WEST ORANGE, N. J.—After intensive holiday study Thomas A. Edison perhaps has some ideas for new inventions. He had a dinner of crackers and milk, played with the grandchildren a bit, then devoted himself to lengthy perusal of technical publications.

• • •

WASHINGTON — Employes of the White House have ash trays and jewel cases made of wood taken from the White House when it was remodeled two years ago. Accompanying each gift was a bit of free verse by Mrs. Hoover, telling how a pine tree on the hills of Maryland became a portion of the storied structure and how the gifts, via waste basket and fire, eventually will go, free smoke before free wind, to touch again the hills of Maryland.

• • •

NEW YORK—Janet and Blanche Hutchinson, five and eight years old respectively, have a lion cub to play with. It came by airplane for Christmas, their father, George Hutchinson, having obtained it at the Detroit zoo. It is two months old.

• • •

LONDON—British turfmen know how to keep inside information from getting outside. A court has ruled that it is all right to flog stable boys who tell tipsters things.

CUPID GAINS

Marriage Licenses This Month Show Increase Over December, 1929.

Cupid did a better pre-Christmas business in Marion county this year than in 1929, according to marriage license records in probate court.

A total of 19 licenses were issued between Dec. 1 and Dec. 25 this year as compared to 16 for the corresponding period a year ago.

Licenses issued Wednesday included the following: John H. Sisson, of Sandusky, and Ida M. Sisson, housekeeper, of Prospect; Paul M. McCleary, silk weaver, and Cora Mae Coey, stenographer, both of Marion.

Setting aside of a deed to farm land in Waldo township and quieting of the title are asked in a suit filed in common pleas court by John W. Gompf, guardian of David W. Wyatt, in which Maude Wyatt, John B. Wyatt and N. S. Rittenhouse are made defendants. The law firm of Donithen & Donithen represents the plaintiff.

Cars

Weaving up the street—down the street—through town and country—filling the city and country with activity—doing a good transportation job excellently.

Every car a used car, because once it leaves the dealer's door, it's no longer new. Every car an honest car, because, whether one month or three years old, it was made by a reliable manufacturer who took the same pride in putting out a good product as he does today.

Many of the cars in the hand of a second or third owner, were placed there through dealers who advertise daily in The Marion Star Classified Want Ad Section. Many more will change hands through the same service.

Remember you can "buy with confidence" now—so read the Want Ads today for bargains.

Christmas Gift from Stranger Answers Appeal for Homeless Youth.

By The Associated Press

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Dec. 26—A 16-year-old homeless orphan, Edgar Chapman, lived today because of the Christmas gift of a pint of a stranger's blood.

It came in answer to a radio appeal after physicians decided that a blood transfusion alone could save his life from the effects of a difficult operation.

Hundreds answered, men and women, old and young. scores were tested and finally the blood of E. D. Milligan, 20-year-old resident of Chicago, was found satisfactory

GRAIN PRICES AVERAGE LOWER

Lack of Aggressive Buying Forces Prices in General Down Trend.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO Dec 26—Wheat and corn averaged lower early today, influenced by absence of aggressive buying of wheat and by favorable weather for the movement of corn [illegible] wheat clearances were [illegible] larger than had been expected. Opening at ⅛c off to [illegible], wheat afterward underwent [illegible] sag. Corn started unchanged to ¼ cent down and subsequently showed a general setback.

With the Liverpool market closed until Monday and with holiday conditions prevailing elsewhere wheat here was less active than usual and values tended to fall. The fact that May wheat was [illegible] 13 cents over May corn was construed as an indication that from now on feeding of wheat would be small Traders looking to higher prices contended however, wheat was so low that there was no logic in pressing the selling side of the market.

Speculative selling developed in [illegible] and the resulting lower prices [illegible] into execution stop-loss orders Emphasizing auspicious weather for promoting corn shipments from rural sources was the fact that primary arrivals totaled [illegible] bushels against only 84,000 bushels a year ago The aggregate was somewhat smaller than at the time last week Oats fell with corn and wheat Provisions were without significant change

Beauty of Complexion Depends on Early Care

BY JOSEPHINE HUDDLESTON

THE beauty of your Winter complexion depends largely upon the care you give it during these early cold days And for this reason I want to review some of our old-faithful remedies in case you have forgotten them

One suggestion of major importance is that if you haven't already cleaned your dressing table drawers of Summer preparations and replaced them with those more suitable for Winter use, do it at once!

The right beauty habits are imperative to one's appearance and nothing helps to establish a habit so quickly or firmly as having the things connected with the habit where they can be easily found

Any woman will take a moment to massage a soothing jelly into her hands before going out if a tube of this lotion is kept in plain sight near her gloves, a gentle but insistent reminder of a beauty task left undone

The same woman who hasn't yet realized the advantages of having all of her beauty accessories handy has arranged her kitchen utensils so that she can find any one of them at a second's notice

And speaking of care of the skin to insure a lovely cold weather complexion I've just found that the finish type of hand lotion is marvelous for a powder base on the face

To Correct Chapping

You know already the difference between corrective and finish type hand lotions the former being to correct chapping and redness which are present and the latter, the finish type serving as a preventive against chapping and redness Then too the finish lotions dry immediately so that the hands are not left sticky or greasy

The finish lotion can be used on the face in exactly the same manner it is applied to the hands When the liquid or jelly, both forms are good, has been worked into the skin until it is perfectly dry apply rouge and powder just as you would without the precautionary measure

A little sweet almond oil or olive oil, massaged lightly into the skin after make-up has been removed will keep the skin from reacting unfavorably to long exposure in the sharp winter winds

And don't forget how marvelous camphor ice is for keeping the skin velvety and fine during the Winter

PROBE COSTLY FIRE AT AVIATION FIELD

Valuable Radio Equipment Ruined in Million-Dollar Blaze at Army Post.

By International News Service

RANTOUL, Ill., Dec. 26—Officers in charge of Chanute field today opened an inquiry into a fire which destroyed a large modern hangar housing the United States army aviation radio school and experiment station last night with a loss estimated between $500,000 and $1,000,000.

Valuable radio experimental equipment, much of which was costly and rare, was destroyed in the blaze which for a time threatened to destroy the entire aviation post. Remote control apparatus with which army engineers had been experimenting was ruined. The loss in radio equipment alone was estimated at half a million dollars.

The blaze spread rapidly through the hangar and it was several hours before fire-fighting companies from Champaign, Paxton and Rantour were able to bring it under control. The hangar was built in wartime when Chanute field was an army aviation training center.

PRESENT DEBUTANTE AT ELABORATE BALL

Henry Doherty To Introduce Adopted Daughter To Capital Society Tonight.

By International News Service

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26—Henry L. Doherty oil magnate is going to introduce his adopted daughter to capital society tonight with the largest debutante ball that has been held here this season and perhaps the biggest that has been held here in several years.

Three ballrooms, which comprise practically the entire first floor of the fashionable hotel Mayflower, have been engaged, radio entertainers will be brought here from New York, and a late dinner will be served.

The Dohertys and their adopted daughter, Miss Helen Lee Eames Doherty, have been living at the Mayflower for several months and Washington society is awaiting Miss Doherty's debut to society.

The management said reservations have been made for about 500 persons. The cost of the party, the entertainment and decorations, will total a considerable sum but neither Doherty nor the hotel would hint at the amount.

Miss Doherty is exceptionally attractive; is an accomplished artist, has traveled extensively in Europe and speaks several languages.

State Seeks Means for Control of Insect

By International News Service

BOSTON—The State Reclamation Board is studying the merits of tractors and other high-powered machinery as compared with shovel and man power for mosquito control. The machinery is used effectively in New Jersey, but the hand power method has been the only one thus far used in Massachusetts.

Members of the board journeyed to New Jersey to check up on the methods employed there and to determine whether they would be practical under the conditions in this state. The mosquito control program is based on ditching to drain off stagnant pools where the insect pests might breed. The question at issue is whether tractors or man power ae best for digging ditches in Massachusetts.

Deplores Tendency To Stress Vocational Art

By International News Service

ERIE, Pa.—"Education should direct attention to the art and science of living rather than solely to the art of making a living."

That is what Thyrsa W. Amos, dean of women at the University of Pittsburgh, told an audience of club women here. She deplored the present tendency in many education circles to over emphasize the vocational guidance phase of their efforts.

The dean's thesis is that education should "help an individual to develop a well balanced personality, to realize his capacities and be in harmony with whom he comes in contact."

What prevents two men from becoming friends is that neither of them will brook opposition of any kind.

It often seems as if a man has to be 50 years old before it is safe for him to inherit money.

ROTARY LIKELY TO AID PEACE

Beneficial Results Forecast from Convention in Vienna.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO—When 6,000 business and professional men hold their annual Rotary convention in Vienna next June they will accomplish much more in the development of understanding between the nations than ordinary tourist travel, Almon E. Roth, president of Rotary International stated here recently.

"It is particularly opportune to hold our Rotary convention in Europe next June," Roth said. "It is growing more evident that the countries in Europe are seeking the solution of their economic and political problems in a spirit of harmony.

"There is ground for hope that the gathering at Vienna next June of Rotarian business and professional men with wide influence in their own political, social and economic circles, will stimulate this desire on the part of the nationals of all countries to work out their national and international difficulties in a spirit of cooperation.

"All nations are sharing alike in the disturbing consequences of the present world wide economic depression; to carry on constructively and steadily requires a leadership of a high order. The Rotary convention in Vienna will be another example of a calm and friendly discussion of affairs by men of 60 or more countries, all inspired by the same spirit of service though differing in many other respects.

"We plan, by the widening of acquaintance among business men of different countries, by the extension of personal friendships and by the development of increasingly higher standards of business principles, to give a world wide impetus to the solution of the business and community problems of the world.

"Last September I advised the Vienna Rotary club to make preparations to receive a gathering of 3,000 Rotarians from North America, 2,000 from Europe and the British Isles and 1,000 from other parts of the world."

PUNCH OPERATOR'S HAND AMPUTATED

Special To The Star

UPPER SANDUSKY, Dec. 26—Jennings Swan, employed in the steel stamping department of the Jones Clutch works, had his left hand amputated just above the wrist Wednesday morning at the Marion City hospital. The hand was crushed when a 300 ton punch came down on it after having been accidentally released. A pile of completed discs became topheavy and in an effort to keep them from falling the release on the press was accidentally thrown. A part of his thumb was cut off while another part of the press pierced the palm of his hand between the bones of his second and third fingers.

DISTRICT BRIEFS

UPPER SANDUSKY — Funeral services for Frank C. Finkle, who died at his home at Indian Mill, were held this afternoon at the Bringman & Co. funeral home. Burial was made in Old Mission cemetery.

BUCYRUS—Collection of nearly $2,000,000 taxes in Crawford county began Wednesday when the tax books were opened in the county treasurer's office.

ASHLEY—Thomas Seeds, 94, is seriously ill at the home of his daughter, Mrs. F. A. Wigton.

Galion Elks' Club Gives Party for Children

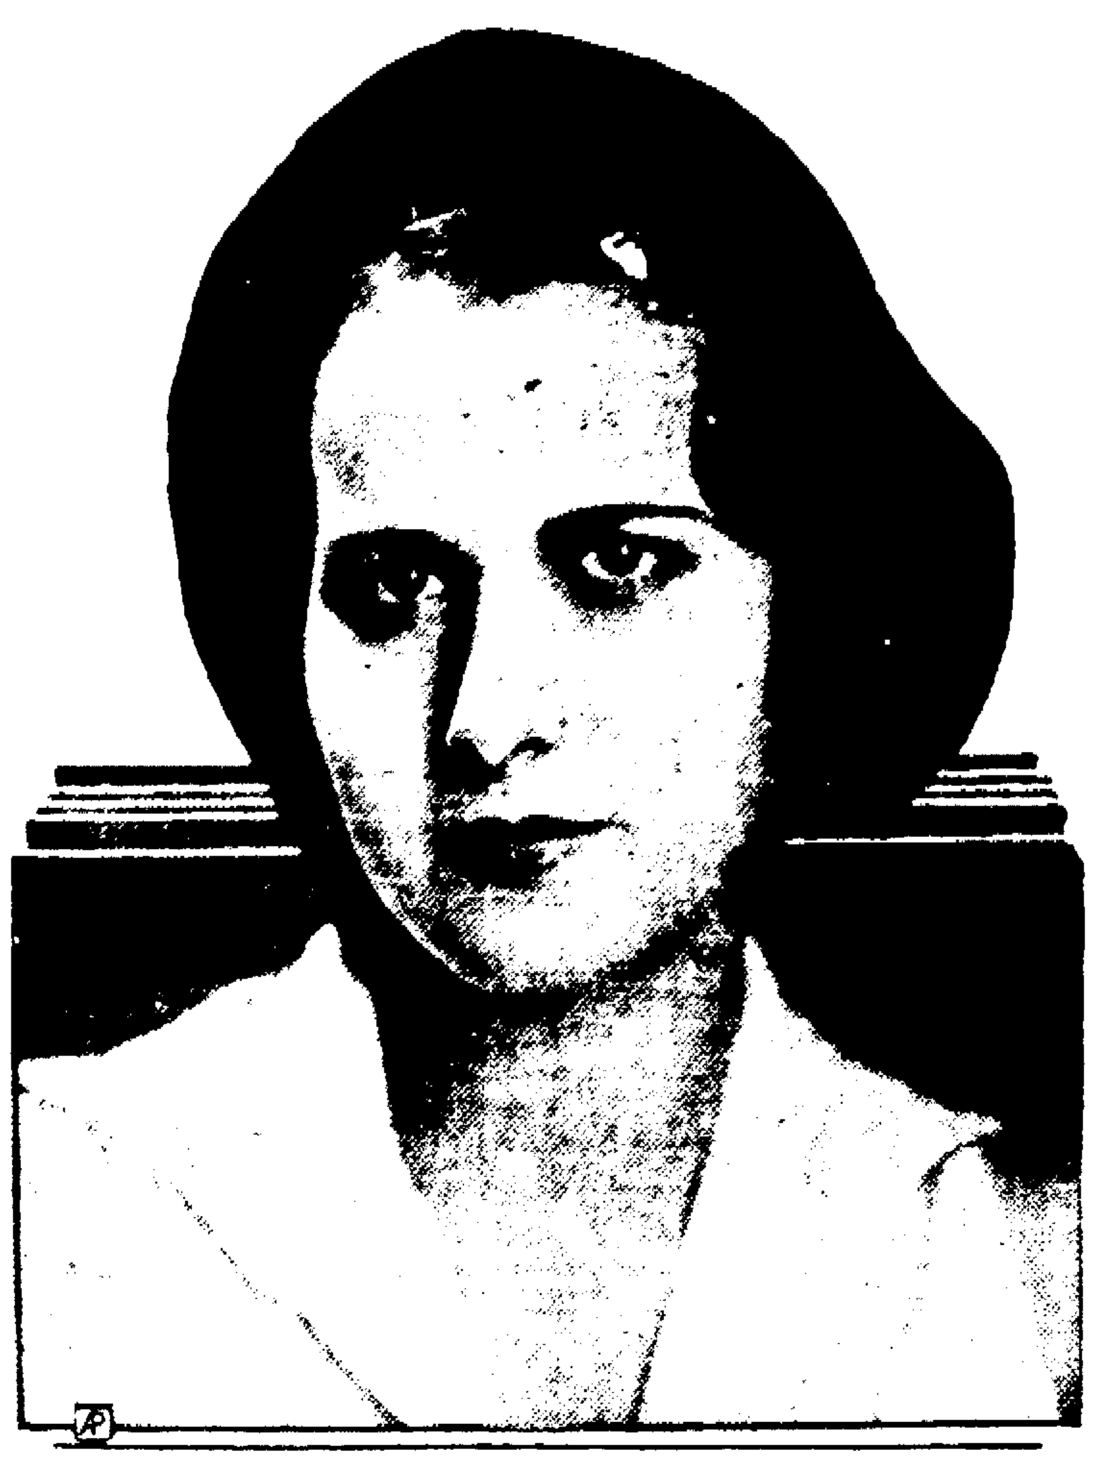
GALION, Dec. 26—The Elks club on Harding Way E. was the scene of a merry party yesterday afternoon from 3 to 6 p. m., when the club entertained at a Christmas party 137 needy children of Galion.

A program featured the first part of the event during which Steve Crawford of Bucyrus gave a 45-minute program of magic and slight of hand performance. Hugh Diamond gave a talk and sang some Scotch songs, and Jack Connelly featured in a black-face monologue and songs, assisted by Miss Leona Green and Miss Pauline Mackey.

A turkey dinner followed and then the children were each given a toy.

Chicago expects to entertain 75,000,000 visitors during the Century of Progress, 1933.

VELVET HAT MODISH



This transparent velvet hat, smart with almost any costume for the street, is worn well back on the head so the face is framed in softly waved hair. The effect is shown in this model by Thurm.

CHRISTMAS WEDDING

GALION, Dec. 26—Miss Bernice Schnegelsberger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Schnegelsberger of 496 Grand street, became the bride of Grant H. West, son of Mrs. Mary West of near Mt. Gilead, at the parsonage of the Market Street Methodist church on West Atwood street Wednesday at 6 p. m. Rev. C. H. Heinlein performed the ceremony, which was the single ring service. The couple were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Paul Koppe.

The bride was graduated from Galion High school with the class of 1930 and has been employed by the North Electric Mfg. Co. West was graduated in 1925 from the Mt. Gilead High School and is employed as a metal finisher at the Sozonion Vault Works in Bucyrus. Mr. and Mrs. West will make their home at 806 North Wingert street, Bucyrus.

Many elderly people of the city and those who are ill were serenaded with Christmas carols by various young people's organizations late Wednesday night and early Christmas morning. At midnight Christmas eve a number of the members of the Christian Endeavor society and of the choir of the First Reformed church sang carols at the homes of the shut-ins of the congregation and later enjoyed the hospitality of Miss Emma Durtsche at her home on South Boston Street where refreshments were served.

The members of the Tried and True class of the First Baptist church were breakfast guests of Miss Annadale Curtiss on East Atwood street after singing.

A group of Girl Reserves were entertained at the home of Miss Grace Weston, the club sponsor, after singing yesterday morning.

Supreme Court Rejects Appeal of Bucyrus Suit

BUCYRUS, Dec. 26—The appeal of Nellie Morehead and others from the decree of the local court and appelate courts favoring Frank Abbott, was rejected by the Ohio supreme court today.

A $500 judgment was obtained by the local court and sustained by the appealate court some time ago by Abbott in his suit against Mrs. Morehead's guardian.

Daily Proverb — "Defaming or slandering others is the greatest of all sins."

A morning paper headline reads, "128 Killed in Christmas Accidents." Christmas also will have to be made "safe and sane."

Of course, if they didn't please you, you can take 'em back and exchange them for something more to your fancy.

The soviet Russian government will hereafter bar food supplies save to those who support it. If a like rule were enforced over here by the administration the political renegades in the senate would have to go to fasting.

Governor Roosevelt, of New York state, has pardoned six women framed on vice charges by racketeering New York policemen. It's a truly appalling situation when conditions are such that a governor must take such action to rectify as much as is in his power such a betrayal of law and justice.

A woman, unknown to the proprietor of an Indianapolis jewelry store, to whom he was showing diamonds, at her request, walked out with a tray of the gems valued at $70,000 as another supposed customer spoke to him regarding some silverware. That jeweler needs a guardian.

Washington announces that income tax receipts, which were far short of expectations the first half of December, took a spurt during the second half and by the end of the month are expected to come pretty close to the estimates. Maybe the country was so busy buying Christmas presents that it overlooked the little accounts owed Uncle Sam.

The fourteen-year-old St. Clairsville boy, convicted of the murder of a produce dealer there, was sentenced to the penitentiary for life. If the lad were old enough to commit wilful murder, he is not too young to be made to suffer punishment for his crime. There has been far too much of this business of pleading youth as an excuse to avoid penalization.

Three United States district court judges in New Jersey refuse to concur in the ruling of Judge William Clark, that the eighteenth amendment is invalid, and dry enforcement under the Volstead law is being continued. Isn't it just possible that too much attention has been and is being given the Clark decision?

The arrest of four young men and a young woman in Chicago, led to the recovery of $85,000 in stolen government bonds, the seizure of $200 worth of narcotics, ten revolvers and pistols and two shotguns and a rifle, and led to confessions by the five of the robbery by the hold-up method of nine Illinois banks. Crime may appear to pay, temporarily, but the criminal must eventually stand the price.

The Heart of America Right.

If any person in all the city went without a Christmas dinner yesterday or any little one went without a remembrance of the gladdest of all holidays, it must have been due to a combination of circumstances which could not possibly have been foreseen. Never in local history has there been such organization for looking after those who have been unfortunate as there was here this Christmas season and never such efficiency in affording the cheer planned.

To this paper, the most remarkable phase of the work was that of looking after the youngsters and seeing that each received at least one gift in remembrance of the day. It was not an indiscriminate "dumping" of gifts into the homes of those upon whom fortune has not smiled of late. Through the various relief organizations the name of every child in the city who might not otherwise receive a gift was secured and cards made out for each family. Using these cards, hundreds of gifts were made up for each unfortunate family with each gift therein addressed to the member of the family for whom it was intended. These bundles did not go to scores or homes or to a few hundred, but literally to hundreds upon hundreds of homes, the young in which might not otherwise have been gladdened with Christmas gifts. Thus there were good dinners and Christmas reminders in the way of toys in every Marion home.

It was certainly a wonderful anniversary of the coming of the Christ Child in the city, and from press reports we gather that much the same splendid organization which made the day notable for the remembrance of those who otherwise might not have fared so well was manifested in the municipalities of the entire land. From ocean to ocean and from the lakes to the gulf the story was the same. Never before had there been a like manifestation of the Christmas spirit.

We of America may be self-centered and somewhat indifferent to our fellow-men at times, but when it comes to the test the heart of America is ever found to be "right."

Obligations Unfulfilled.

The Carnegie Endowment for International Peace has issued a statement prepared by Elihu Root, former president of the Endowment, Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, its present president, and James Brown Scott, its secretary, holding that reduction of armaments throughout the world is an imperative obligation.

No words are wasted in the Endowment statement. It gets straightway down to facts by recalling the intimate relations between a general limitation of armaments and the special limitation placed on German military forces under Part V of the Treaty of Versailles, which was incorporated by reference in the Treaty of Berlin made by Germany and the United States. Part V of the Versailles treaty reads:

"In order to render possible the initiation of a general limitation of the armaments of all nations, Germany undertakes strictly to observe the military naval and air clauses which follow." Then follow the clauses strictly limiting the German military forces.

Before the Versailles treaty was signed by the representatives of Germany, a communication was addressed to them signed by the Allied and Associated powers, the United States being one of the latter, which read in part as follows:

"The Allied and Associated powers have already pointed out to the German delegates that the covenant of the League of Nations provides for the 'reduction of national armaments to the lowest point consistent with national safety and the enforcement by common action of international obligations.' They recognize that the acceptance by Germany of the terms laid down by her own disarmament will facilitate and hasten the accomplishment of a general reduction of armaments; and they intend to open negotiations immediately with a view to the eventual adoption of a scheme of such general reduction. It goes without saying that the realization of this program will depend in large part on the satisfactory carrying out by Germany of her own engagements."

The statement submitted to the German delegates went further and set out that the Allied and Associated powers desired to make clear that the restrictions placed on Germany with regard to armaments was not made solely with the object of making it impossible for Germany again to become militarily aggressive, but rather as the first steps toward general limitation and reduction of the armaments of the world, which they sought to bring about as "one of the most fruitful preventions of war."

Upon receipt of this communication the German delegates signed the Versailles treaty June 16, 1919, and Germany was deprived of all military forces save only what was deemed sufficient for her internal safety. Eleven years have passed and the obligations which the Allied and Associated powers took upon themselves have not been fulfilled. Some of the Allied powers are stronger today, notably France, than at the close of the war. The Allied powers have made Germany prostrate as a military power and have insisted that she carry out all her obligations to the letter. In common decency and in justice to Germany, to say nothing of the furthering of the cause of peace, they should make good their obligations, and this applies to this country as well. As the Carnegie Endowment trustees ask: "Should not these obligatios prevail against all technicalities and temporary obstacles?"

Take it from us, cold turkey is a mighty fine dish, and nothing is better than the turkey hash we'll have tomorrow, but we'll stop our commendation with this, for it's our view that the fellow who conceived the idea of turkey bone soup was a public enemy.

The gusher on the Cheney farm a mile and a half from McCutchensville has been connected with the main of the Ohio Fuel Gas company at that place and is supplying 1,750,000 cubic feet of gas a day. Wonder if the gate price is forty-five cents?

As the result of talking in his sleep, a New York City man is being held charged with having married four women without having been relieved by death or the law from the claims of any of them. A man given to talking in his sleep hasn't any business marrying one woman, much less four.

The British Labor government has announced that, up to September 30, it has expended £136,000,000, approximately $662,000,000 to give jobs to the idle of Britain, which means, figuring on the British basis, 150,000,000 days of labor. America is far from alone in contending against unemployment. The situation is close to worldwide.

Hugh C. Leighton, the fourth husband of Pauline Frederick, has been granted a decree of divorce on his showing that, immediately after their marriage ceremony eight months ago she went to the apartment of a woman friend to spend the night and that she has not even given him "a good kiss" since. There's absolutely no accounting for these artistic temperaments.

An Illinois woman told a court that her husband had come home drunk and beat her up because of pie she baked for him when a bride, six years before, wasn't like his mother used to bake. This is the first intimation the country has had that the bootleg poson is a memory restorative.

The one-month campaign in New York City to raise $8,000,000 to provide jobs for the unemployed heads of families went over the top by $269,000, the total at the final meeting this week being announced as $8,269,000. That's doing things to the game of Old Man Hard Luck.

Jean Chiappe, perfect of the Paris police, is trying to improve the morals of the gay French capital—"Not too much, just a little," he says, "for Paris should always give liberty, good, pure liberty, where a man after his daily effort can freely appreciate the joy of living." What he is liable to do is to prolongate the sidestepping of Paris by Americans, so noticeable this year, indefinitely.

"NOW WHERE WERE WE AT?"

Editorial Opinion.

The federal farm board will come into an official legacy of more than $100,000,000 next year. This sum will join the other hundreds of millions of the half-billion-dollar revolving fund which was to control produce prices and make the farmer prosperous. That it will have more effect than the vast sums already poured into the apparently bottomless hole of agrarian distress is open to grave question, even in the mind of the gentleman who urged congress to make the additional appropriation, Mr. Legge.

The chairman has declared bluntly that without real cooperation on the part of farmers everywhere, cooperation that has not been forthcoming, the whole program of farm relief as now being applied is doomed to failure. In admitting that government operations in wheat and cotton have not secured fair prices for those commodities, and even in more direct language, Mr. Legge has suggested his belief that the whole marketing act is unsound. If so, the taxpayer, with a treasury deficit and increased income taxes looming over him, is asked to pay an exceptionally high charge for watching a failing experiment.

Through its market operations the farm board has acquired and now holds at ruinously-deflated prices some 115,000,000 bushels of wheat and nearly a million and a half bales of cotton. The huge sums to come into its possession will be used, presumably, for similar attempted juggling of the market. As there seems likely to be no great reduction of the world supply of these staples the outcome of such a program is not hard to predict.

The one admirable spot in a dismal show is Mr. Legge himself. He was given a job to do and has been working at it with singular energy. He apparently was dissuaded a short time ago from tossing the task overboard, although he realized its impossible nature. Failure of the farm relief program will not be blamable to feeble leadership, but to inexorable economic laws which congress, rather than the board chairman, should be urged to recognize.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

A Temperance Campaign in 1805.

BY J. H. GALBRAITH.

Probably the first temperance speech ever made in Northwestern Ohio was made at Fort Industry, whose site, as stated in this column some time ago, lies within the present boundaries of the city of Toledo, June, 1805.

The orator was Rev. Joseph Badger, a New England clergyman who had been sent as a missionary to work in the Western Reserve. In midsummer, 1805, he decided to make a missionary journey west to the falls of the Maumee, and while there, hearing that the representatives of eight tribes were in conference at Fort Industry, not so many miles away, conferring with the United States commissioner, Colonel Jewett, regarding their lands, he decided to go there on the chance of being permitted to address the Indians.

He was given the privilege, and when he had finished the Indians withdrew to consider his final appeal. Crane, their chief, presided and directed them to discuss the matter and decide what they should do. After the conference Chief Crane came to Rev. Mr. Badger, saying: "Father, we believe you have told us the truth. We thank you and have agreed to use no more ardent spirits."

Rev. Mr. Badger said that he lived among these Indians—they were Wyandottes—for four years and he never heard in that time of one of them being drunk. He was informed that it broke up the traders' business among those Indians, whisky being their principal money-making article of sale.

Correct Faulty Sight.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

During the past decade various preventive medical and hygienic measures have helped us to overcome many unfortunate and unnecessary evils. We are living in the age of progress.

The care of children's teeth has only recently become a matter of general attention. The reporting of children to dentists for the care of their teeth, has aided greatly in the decrease of common ailments of childhood. Not only has this precautionary move helped our future citizens to have stronger teeth, but also it has assured us of their having sturdier bodies.

But I am sorry to say, there has been neglect in the care of the eyes of children. Why we should neglect a part of the body so important as the eyes, is difficult to understand.

It is most important to determine the clearness of vision of the child's eyes at the earliest age. Should there be any defect in vision in one or both of the eyes, it is far simpler to correct this in childhood than at a later stage.

Frequently, children with defective vision are backward in their schoolwork. The child at times actually appears stupid and may be extremely difficult to handle. In truth these children are handicapped because of poor vision. If the defect is corrected the child will be able to carry on his work with his classmates.

Eyestrain is a common occurrence in children. To prevent it they should be kept outdoors as much as possible. The teeth and nasal passages should be kept in good condition. Where any physical defects are present they should be remedied by proper medical attention.

Chairs, desks and writing tablets should be of the right size so that good posture may be maintained. Children should not be permitted to read in dull light or to read in bed. Too much light is as bad as too little light, and glaring lights should be avoided.

Such eye defects as "farsightedness," "nearsightedness" and "astigmatism" should receive attention at an early age. If necessary, children may wear glasses as early as at three years of age. When given attention in early life it is very probable the glasses may be discarded later.

It has been the custom to postpone correction of these conditions until adult life, when they have been present ever since childhood. In such cases it often takes many years for marked improvement to take place. If glasses are prescribed in childhood, it is possible the conditions will be corrected in a very short time.

It is important that your child have adequate dental care. Everybody recognizes that, but if there is any doubt in your mind as to the eyes, they should be examined at once by a competent specialist.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES

READER. Q—Would grape juice be of any benefit to a person whose blood is thin, and who is anemic?

2—What can be done for profuse perspiration under the arms?

A—It might, to some extent. Building up the health in general will increase the blood supply and benefit the entire system.

2—Excessive perspiration is usually due to a nerve disturbance. Improve your health and the nerves will benefit. For full particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope, and repeat your question.

Universal Gravitation.

BY ARCHIBALD HENDERSON.

The great tour de force embodied in Newton's immortal work "Naturalis Philosophiae Principia Mathematica" is probably the greatest intellectual achievement attributable to a single mind. He himself preferred the title "De Motu Corporum Libri Duo"—"Two Books on the Motion of Bodies." But the former title was finally chosen because as he naively said "it will help the sale of the book." Even the great Newton was not adverse to modern commercial methods.

Newton, be it remembered, was not a great astronomical observer. He was a great student of the mechanism of the telescope, concerning which he made important inventions. But he was not interested in accumulating personally new astronomical data. He was content with utilizing the data already accumulated by Galileo and Kepler. He employed these data to serve as clues for, as well as to verify, the general principles which he formulated.

Newton mastered the knowledge regarding the movements of the heavenly bodies, of mechanics and physics, down to his own time. His principal object was to take these isolated principles and discoveries, relate them, and by their use to make a coherent, organic theory of the mechanism of the physical world.

Newton was not the first person in history, by any means, to conceive of gravitation as a universal force operating throughout all space. Copernicus had suggested this notion as applicable to the heavenly bodies. Kepler conceived of the sun as a great attractive force governing planetary movements in the solar system, and even suggested that this attractive force varied inversely as the square of the distance, although later abandoning the idea.

Newton made use of the three classic laws of Kepler: the planets revolve in elliptical orbits; an imaginary line from the sun as focus, to any planet, sweeps out equal areas in equal times of the periodical revolutions of the planets are proportional to the cubes of their mean distances from the sun.

With these laws, he combined Galileo's discoveries regarding acceleration. The law of inertia, the first law, is that a body once in motion will continue in motion in a straight line unless acted on by other forces. The second law is that the result of applied force, in the phenomenon above described, is a change of motion, called acceleration, which takes effect in the direction of the applied force.

Newton added the corollary that if a body starts out with an inertial speed in a straight line and is then acted upon by a central force, the result will be to change constantly the direction of the force. It was the use of this corollary which Newton recognized intuitively to be at work in controlling the motions of the planets and making them move, each in its particular orbit.

The principle devised by Newton to account for the mutual attraction and reaction are equal, and opposite in direction. It folllowed that mass times acceleration is a constant; and this principle proved to be exceedingly fruitful of results. By studying the various influences of the different planets upon each other, in pairs, and employing the principles mentioned above, Newton was able to give a complete description and explanation of the movement of the heavenly bodies.

Adam Smith, who was dumb-founded by Newton's amazing achievement in calculating the mass and specific gravity of the sun, as well as of al lthe planets that had satellites, pronounced it to be "above the reach of human reason and experience."—Copyright, 1930, International Feature Service, Inc.

NYE ASSEMBLING PARTY BANK BOOKS

Plans To Use Records To Learn Facts in Lucas-Norris Inquiry.

By International News Service

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26—Bank records of the Republican national committee which might have a bearing on disposition of the $40,000 "special account," opened for the "convenience" of executive director Robert H. Lucas, have to all intents been impounded, it was learned today.

One of the last acts of Senator Gerald P. Nye, Republican of North Dakota, chairman of the senate campaign investigating committee, before a holiday truce was declared in its investigation of the anti-Norris Nebraska campaign furore, was to subpoena records of both the regular national committee account and the special account in a bank here. This action was taken, Nye explained, to prevent return to committee officials of cancelled checks drawn against the accounts, and still in the bank's possession.

Nye hopes to trace the source of the check with which J. R. Nutt, treasurer of the Republican national committee, opened the special account five days after Lucas ordered the literature which was sent into Nebraska, in an attempt to defeat the insurgent leader.

THREE LOSE LIVES AS BOAT CAPSIZES

Ten Other Persons Rescued from Waters of Bay in California.

By The Associated Press

SAUSALITO, Calif., Dec. 26—Three men were believed to have drowned here late last night when a launch capsized, throwing its 13 occupants into the cold water of Richardson's bay. Ten were rescued by a ferry's life boats.

The party was on its way from Sausalito to the yacht Janidore, owned by Isadore Zellerbach, San Francisco capitalist. Those believed lost are Ernest Rogers, a stevedore; A. Van Scoy, a cook and a man known only as "Bill." A woman was among the rescued.

Captain Charles L. Olson of the ferry Tamalpais said his craft was just entering the slip here when he heard cries for help. The life boats were put out quickly, but they had to cover more than half a mile to reach the overturned launch.

A strong tide carried the 13 men farther away from the ferry and they had to struggle hard to keep afloat until the rescuers arrived.

With life belts and lines, the rescuers pulled the 10 out of the water in short order, but were unable to find any trace of the other three.

KIN HUBBARD, NOTED HUMORIST, STRICKEN

missed a Christmas day at his desk.

Mr. Hubbard's full name was Frank McKinney Hubbard, but he preferred the shorter name of "Kin." He was a close friend of Will Rogers and Chic Sales.

Mr. Hubbard's death occurred at a new home he had recently built here. He was always reticent as to his age and it was not until after his death that even his close associates learned he was 62 years old.

Hubbard had been a caricaturist and paragrapher for the Indianapolis News for 40 years.

His "Abe Martin's sayings" were syndicated with a wide distribution, and published annually in book form.

His Last Book

From "Station R F S. Bloom Center, Mr. Hubbard announced: "A pedestrian is mostly some one who'd rather walk than try to park flat to the curb."

"A woman is the most confusin' thing. She'll kill her husband's vote an' turn right around and charge a new dress to him."

"Alcoholic psychosis is nothin' more or less'n old DT's in a dinner suit."

"I wonder if the Mediterranean fly would be interested in spinach?"

Mr. Hubbard created the character of "Abe" shortly after a trip through Indiana during one of the Presidential campaigns of William Jennings Bryan.

Tells of "Abe's" Origin

"At the close of each day during the trip," he wrote, "I made many pictures of scenes and incidents and statesmen encountered and mailed them to the News. At the end of the campaign I had a surplus of material. My system was still full of the things I had seen and heard and I asked to be allowed to work off some of them after election. I drew a character which I called Abe Martin and for several days I wrote two unrelated sentences bearing on politics and things in general and published them beneath the picture. This feature caused some favorable comment and it was decided to continue it. As the News' readers got on to Abe he grew in popularity and after a few months I could not have stopped him if I had wanted to.

"Very often I had things to say that Abe Martin would not be likely to say, so, from time to time, I quoted various neighbors of his—Constable Newt Plum, Miss Tawney Apple, ticket seller of a nickle theater, Squire Marsh Swallow, Tilford Moots, Lafe Bud, Miss Fawn Lippincut, Stew Nugent, Rev. Wiley Tanger, Dr. Mopps, Pinkey Kerr and other familiar country town characters."

Avoids Public Speaking

Mr. Hubbard was of retiring disposition and refused to engage in public speaking.

He formed some close friendships with other American humorists and writers. His early efforts attracted the attention of the Hoosier poet, James Whitcomb Riley. w

FIVE PERSONS SLAIN

Kentucky Shootings Take Heavy Toll on Christmas Day.

By United Press

FRANKFORT, Ky., Dec. 26—Five persons, one of them a woman, were slain and as many were wounded, several probably fatally, in two Christmas day shootings in Kentucky.

Three of the victims were killed in a gun battle at Cow Creek near Boonville, where Deputy Sheriff John Mosely and his brother, Pierce, went to arrest three robber suspects.

The other killings occurred at a Christmas party at Kidd schoolhouse, McCreary county. The victims were Frank Hamblin, 45, and Clarence Lovett, 22. There was a violent quarrel, officers said, and Lovett killed Hamblin and then was slain by Hamblin's son, Ernest, who was wounded. The shooting became general and two others, whose names were not learned, were wounded before police arrived.

NEW YORK, Dec. 26—Five persons were dead today because they drank poison liquor Christmas day.

In their homes, on the streets, in subway stations and on piers they dropped yesterday and were taken to hospitals for treatment that failed. Five more deaths were investigated in the same connection and 45 persons were being doctored for acute alcoholism.

Dr. Charles Norris, medical examiner, said it was the lightest Yuletide toll in three years.

PRIZE BEAUTY

This beautiful little two-year-old girl, Barbara Jean Rowley, has just been acclaimed "the most beautiful baby in Utah." She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Rowley, of Springfield, Utah, and was an entrant in the recent baby contest at Provo.

IDAHO REPORTS METEOR FALL

Expert Opinion Differs on Possibility of Provinig Unsual Happening.

By The Associated Press

LEWISTON, Idaho, Dec. 26—Expert opinion was divided today as to whether residents of a dozen towns in northern Idaho could ever prove a meteor struck in that area Christmas eve.

Hundreds of persons agreed a mysterious light flashed across the sky about 9:45 p. m. Wednesday night and that it was followed by an explosion resembling the detonation of a monster shell. But concrete evidence was lacking.

Dr. O. J. Moorehead of Kendrick, Idaho, an amateur astronomer, said he was certain the meteor, if it was a meteor, exploded in the air. He watched its fiery course, he said, and the light grew dim as it neared the horizon.

Just before the explosion, other witnesses said, the flare seemed to split into four parts, as if it had divided in the sky.

Prof. F. B. Laney of the University of Idaho, on the other hand, said he believed a meteor hit the earth, probably twenty or thirty miles southeast of Moscow, at which the university is located.

He said telephone company crews had been instructed to watch for the crater.

Appropriation of $3,500,000 to pay county agents in drouth-stricken areas, where counties cannot meet federal fund, urged by Representative Moore, Democrat, of Virginia.

Creation of army reserve, to enlist 250,000 unemployed for one year, proposed by Representative Celler, Democrat, of New York.

Scores of other similar bills are expected to be introduced when tcongress reconvenes.

BOYS PLAY FOR GOLD

Youngsters Found Using Nuggets for Marbles.

By The Associated Press

HOLLISTER, Mo., Dec. 26—School boys near here have been playing marbles with gold nuggets. Authorities believe the nuggets were found near the home of Jake Fleagle, western bandit, who was shot to death at Brandon, Mo., several months ago.

The boys refused to divulge the location of their cache. Clyde Chapman, a railroad station agent here, said his son was one of those who found the nuggets. A test proved the nuggets were gold.

At the time Fleagle was killed by officers, there was much speculation here as to a cache in which it was believed he had hidden loot taken in a number of robberies.

Chapman said there was as much as a double handful of the nuggets in possession of the boys.

Funeral Services Held for Cousin of Harding

By United Press

ZANESVILLE, O., Dec. 26—Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon for Everett J. Harding, 58, prominent resident of Dresden and cousin of the late President Warren Harding, who died at Good Samaritan hospital here after an illness from heart trouble.

MAY APPROVE FOUR-LINE PLAN

Prospects Brighter for Settlement of Controversy of Railroads, Commission.

United Press Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26—Prospects for an amicable settlement of the eastern railroad controversy, with provision for a four-trunk-line setup, were brighter today than at any time within the last six months.

Agreement among leading eastern railroad executives to provide for only four main system—the New York Central, Baltimore & Ohio, Pennsylvania and Chesapeake & Ohio—as opposed to the interstate commerce commission's proposal for five trunk lines, was reached at a conference this week in New York.

That the commission could retire gracefully from its five-system plan was the opinion expressed today by railway men here. Its forthcoming decision in the Wheeling & Lake Erie case, expected next month, provides the commission with the vehicle for a neat reversal, without occasioning excess criticism, according to the railroad men.

Should the commission deny the application of the Pittsburgh & West Virginia, owned by the Taplin brothers of Cleveland, for authority to acquire the Wheeling, the way would be left open for it later to approve the four-trunk line proposal of the eastern carriers.

Under the final consolidation plan, announced by the commission a year ago, the Wheeling, along with the Pittsburg & West Virginia, was assigned to the fifth (Wabash) seaboard system. It was on the basis of this plan that the Taplins contended the commission should approve the Pittsburg & West Virginia application.

PROHIBITION FOES ATTACK AMENDMENT

Dry Law Blamed by Group for Increase in Federal Prisoners.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26—Upon the dry laws the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment today heaped the blame for all federal court congestion and for the entire increase in the number of federal prisoners since 1920.

A statistical pamphlet released by the association estimated the number of prohibition prisoners now in federal, state and county penal institutions at 50,000. It contended prison and penitentiary statistics did not give a measure of the crime problem for "only a small proportion of those convicted are given felony sentences."

It termed "an example of misinformation" an assertion made last year by President Hoover that only a small portion of felony cases could be attributed to the eighteenth amendment for, it added, "88 per cent of the prohibition violators sentenced in federal courts are misdemeanants and not felons."

"Prohibition cases now account for two-thirds of all criminal cases in the federal courts," said the association, adding the total last year was 56,455.

The pamphlet presented an estimate of the cost of "adequate prohibition enforcement" totaling $100,000,000 a year with abolition of jury trials in all dry law cases and $350,000,000 with jury hearing.

Ex-Policeman, Held for Holdup, Ends Life

By The Associated Press

SPRINGFIELD, O., Dec. 26—Breaking a glass of drinking water and slashing his throat, Fred Dawley, former Columbus policeman, died Wednesday night in a hospital where he was being treated for gunshot wounds inflicted by Detective Jesse Edgington who sought to question him concerning a filling station holdup Sunday.

MARION HAS QUIET CHRISTMAS HOLIDAY

pleaded guilty this morning in municipal court to charge of intoxication and disorderly conduct. It was not his first offense, according to court authorities.

He was arrested early this morning on Senate street by police, after complaint regarding his conduct been made.

Even thieves at least most of them declared Christmas a holiday. Only one theft was reported to police by Marionites since Wednesday.

H. E. Roecker of 126 Dix avenue reported a blanket taken from his garage last night.

Only one call disturbed the quiet serenity of the fire department.

Fire originating from sparks on a shingle roof did $5 damage to the E. R. House residence at 198 Hane avenue yesterday shortly after 9 a. m. Company No. 1 answered the call.

Those who failed to observe warnings of Marion filling station owners that gasoline would not be for sale on Christmas day faced prospects of walking yesterday. A number of motorists sought in vain for a filling station "open for business."

As is the custom, all business places and public offices, excepting the police station and the fire department, suspended operations for the day.

Jurors don't want to serve. Don't find so much fault with them.

Hold Officer on Charge of Alien Smuggling

By The Associated Press

INDIO, Calif., Dec. 26—Frederick Schnell, a federal immigration officer, was in jail here today, charged with smuggling aliens into the United States over the Mexican border.

Schnell's arrest followed an accident yesterday in which his machine was wrecked and one Chinese fatally injured. The car crashed into a bridge guard rail in turning out for another machine, driven by R. W. Little, deputy collector of internal revenue.

Little, according to Francis A. Koehler, police chief, found Schnell in uniform near the wreckage of his car and four Chinese hiding nearby. Schnell admitted, Koehler said, that he was smuggling the aliens into this country.

WELFARE WORK HERE AT PEAK CHRISTMAS

agreed by welfare workers today. Every family known to be in need shared in the benefits.

A new plane of efficiency in handling concerted welfare effort was also reached in the distribution of the gifts, according to welfare leaders. Duplicaton of effort was reduced to a minimum when the organisations, clubs and groups checked the name of the persons each intended to help.

Churches Observe Day

Marion churches in which services were held yesterday were filled to capacity. St. Mary's Catholic, St. Paul's Episcopal, Emanuel's Lutheran and Salem Evangelical churches all held services. A German sermon and German Christmas carols were a part of the services at the Evangelical church. The entire service was in the German tongue.

Masses were sung at St. Mary's church from 5 to 11 a. m., with a solemn high mass at 5, a children's high mass at 8 and high mass at 11. Low masses were celebrated between these hours.

Regular services of St. Paul's church were held yesterday. Rev. J. W. Schillinger, pastor of Emanuel's church, preached a Christmas sermon yesterday morning and held children's Christmas services last night.

Employes Give Aid

Employes of the Isaly Dairy Co. Wednesday played Santa Claus to 36 Marion families when they distributed baskets of food to that number.

Each basket contained not only enough food for a Christmas dinner but also enough to last the entire week. Dairy products, consisting of milk, cottage cheese and butter, were donated by C. H. Isaly, president of the company.

Bread, breakfast food, canned fruits, fresh fruits, meat and candy were among the articles in each basket.

The baskets were distributed by means of one of the company's trucks, and Santa Claus accompanied the driver.

Money to purchase most of the food was raised by 30 employes of the company. They have donated food in previous years to poor families but this year they covered a greater amount of territory. Names of the families which benefited from the baskets were supplied by the Family Welfare society.

2,000 AT PARTY

Oakland Heights Community Program Features Treat for Children.

Oakland Heights played Santa Claus to its youngsters Wednesday night, and staged a Christmas party for the neighborhood when 2,000 persons gathered at Bellefontaine avenue and Davids street for a party.

Singing of Christmas carols by school children opened the program of events at 7:30 p. m. This was followed by music by a band made up of Marionites.

Nearly 1,000 bags of candy treats for the kiddies were distributed.

POLICE CONTRIBUTE

Fund Collected To Aid Needy Families Here.

A fund to be used in giving assistance to the deserving needy of the city has been raised by members of the city force, Acting Police Chief Ira Shrock said today.

The money will be expended to care for any families missed in the distribution of food at Christmas and will only be used in cases of actual need, Chief Shrock said.

BUS, CAR HIT ON BRIDGE

Three Persons Injured in Traffic Crash near Cardington.

CARDINGTON, O., Dec. 26—Three persons were slightly injured this morning when a bus and a passenger car attempted to pass on a narrow bridge two miles east of here.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Elliott of Mansfield, occupants of the passenger car, were badly cut while Mrs. Corrinne Rathburn of Mt. Gilead, one of two passengers on the bus, sustained a wrenched knee.

The bus, running from Mansfield to Delaware, and the Elliott car were badly damaged. Traffic on the road was tied up for sometime until the cars were removed from the bridge.

The bus was driven by Paul Bailey. Mrs. Blanche McAnall of Mt. Gilead was the other bus passenger.
